

Sharon Walker

5/1/25

Developmental Psychology

Professor Hunter

THE WISE MESSAGE:

To my descendants, I come before you to bring you a word of the wise. The wise are the elders who came before you. Their knowledge, skills and success has taken us to higher levels of life. It has come to me that we must encourage you to do the same. Your success and happiness are immense into your inheritance. The wise has great faith that you all will continue and prosper from your ancestors. The wise will like to live with educational opportunities, happiness, success, and prosperity. Once you have achieved the wise inheritance, you are required to pass it down to the next generation. Your skills, knowing's, success, and wealth with others. The wise will always be with you. The wise will guide and support you along your journeys. Now go out advocate that education is key to success, caring for others is detrimental to wealth, kindness is a core component and love is mandatory. This is for you as my descendants, your descendants, and future descendants. I the wise want true happiness and success for all of you.